PROJECT IDEA

- the internationalisation of Central Asian and bordering Chinese universities,
- modernization of the International Relations Offices of participating institutions;
- promote an international network of cross-regional cooperation focused on teaching and researching among universities;
- strengthen knowledge sharing on teaching, learning and researching matters;
- design an innovative cross-regional (among Central Asian countries/institutions and bordering Chinese regions related to the New Silk Road) and international (Europe-Central Asia) mobility framework for students, academics, researchers and University staff.

OBJECTIVES

- To improve the capacity for international and cross-regional cooperation for transfer knowledge of Higher Education Institutions in partner countries by modernising their International Relations Offices and exploiting potentials for cooperation in Teaching, Learning and Research.
- Transfer of knowledge and cooperation will be reinforced through the creation of an international and cross-regional cooperation network.
- To create a cooperation framework aimed at defining the basis for cooperation among participating HEIs for learning, teaching and researching, which will later be tested during a pilot test (mobility of students and professors at regional and interregional level).
